

Santa Let You Down?

Oh sure, you got a lot of stuff for Christmas. But not what you really wanted: a racing blanket from Brackney Hills Knitting. One with an image of a modified or sprint car knitted right in it.

But don't be too hard on the jolly old elf. Maybe there just wasn't enough room in his sleigh. After all, our blankets are big: 5 feet by 5 feet, large enough to decorate the top of any bed. And at four pounds each, that might have been more weight than all of his poor reindeer could pull.

Then again, he may have had a hard time just trying to choose from all of the great drivers and designs. Like Modified legends Richie Evans, Dutch Hoag and Geff Bodine, DIRT standout Steve Paine, the late model of Ken Schrader, or World of Outlaws stars Donny Schatz and Jeremy Campbell.

Maybe he couldn't believe that something of such high quality could be so affordable. Only $59 each, plus shipping and handling.

So don't gamble that Santa will come through for you next year. Go ahead and give yourself a gift of a Brackney Hills Knitting blanket — right now.

After all, you know that you're going to be very, very good in 2007. Aren't you?
